

iDeposit Plus FAQs

What do I need to use iDeposit Plus?

Just a PC, high-speed Internet connection and a scanner and you'll be in business.

Can I use my existing scanner?

To comply with Check 21, scanned checks must meet rigid technical requirements most ordinary scanners don't satisfy. We offer several affordable models for purchase or lease.

Can it integrate with my accounting software?

A file is created upon transmission of the deposit that can be imported into most accounting applications.

What if the check image isn't readable?

Built-in Image Quality Assurance includes a 14-point test to ensure proper size, compression and readability. Powerful CAR/LAR technology reduces keying and validates against coding errors.

What about the risk of duplicates?

The system automatically alerts you if the file isn't balanced or it detects a duplicate.

How difficult is it to learn and use?

You can learn all the functionality within an hour, and the easy-to-use web-based interface walks you through step-by-step. Online help is also available.

What if I have to research an item?

Both deposit files and individual images stay at your fingertips, and can be viewed and printed based on a variety of criteria.

We do all the work. You get all the credit. Automatically.

Who has time to go to the bank?

Even if you're not reducing staff, your employees are burning it at both ends. The last thing you have time for is daily trips to the bank—traffic, teller lines, racing to make the cut-off—stealing several hours out of your work day. And what about all that time spent filling out deposit slips, copying checks and keying data into accounting applications? Paying couriers gets pricey, too, and who knows where gas prices will end up. But you need to get those high-ticket checks deposited quickly. Wouldn't it be great to have the same electronic funding for checks as you have for credit cards. Guess what—you can—with iDeposit Plus.

Make bank deposits—without the bank.

With iDeposit Plus, you quickly scan and deposit checks right from your office using a simple web-based interface. Scan them all at the end of the day, or scan and transmit them throughout the day—it's your choice.
