

About Plant-It 2020

Plant-It 2020 was founded by singer John Denver in the Spring of 1992. This 501(c)(3) enables individuals and businesses to give back to both communities and forests through seven different reforestation programs. What sets this organization apart is that contributors can choose where their tree gets planted from a worldwide list of locations and all trees are planted in protected non-harvest areas. From business partnerships to city tree-planting events, Plant-It 2020 is helping us help the environment.

Plant-It 2020 only selects locations where there is a high survival rate, where trees are needed, on publicly owned land, and where there's the manpower and supplies to get the trees properly planted.

Choose from the list below, or specify a general reforestation program such as global warming or wildfire restoration.
